

HONESTY RULES —AT— ROSENBAUM BROS.

We want everybody to become thoroughly imbued with the idea that there is only one kind of merchandise obtainable here—and that one is the safe, sound, reliable kind. And another thing: As plainly as quality characterizes the stock, so lowness is a marked feature of the prices. There you have the two elements necessary to satisfaction joined inseparably at this well-known establishment.

Ready-made Sheets and Pillow Cases.

A bleached sheet 24 yards wide, 24 yards long, 2-inch hem, Androscoggin cotton 49c each.
A bleached sheet 80x90 inches, 24-inch hem, Lockwood cotton 52c each.
A mammoth Bleached sheet 90x90 inches, 3-inch hem, Pequot cotton 65c each.
A bleached pillow case 36x45 Androscoggin cotton, 14c each. We also have a better quality, same size size, 15c each.

Bedspreads.

A 10-4 white bedspread, worth $1, we will close out for this week at 75c.
A handsome crocheted quilt, worth $1.25, 98c this week's closing price.
A genuine Marseilles quilt, worth $1.75, removal price $1.25 each.

Holland Shades.

Six colors spring fixtures complete, 23c each.

Lace Curtains.

At 75c, 85c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2 and up. With every pair of lace curtains we give any color pole with fixtures complete; no extra charge.

Parasols, Parasols.

We are headquarters for Parasols—a beautiful white silk parasol with white stick and Paragon frame, only $1.50; you cannot get as good one anywhere for less than $2.
A lovely black or white silk parasol, with 6-inch ruffle around the bottom, only $2; price there elsewhere and you'll be told $2.50 to $3.

We could enumerate the prices of parasols to $8. We would respectfully ask you to call and look over the selection; that's the best proof.

Millinery, Millinery

A great removal sale of all our trimmed and untrimmed Hats. Beginning this week we will offer our entire stock of trimmed Hats and Bonnets at just one-half the regular selling price—what we mean by that is we will sell $12 hat for $6. $7 hat for $3.50.

10 " 5. 6 " 3.
9 " 4.50. 5 " 2.50.
8 " 4. And so on down.

Ladies who have put off getting their summer hats will do well by calling and inspecting our stock.

Rocking Chairs.

Given away—worth $3 apiece. Ask for one of our cards, and when you have purchased $25 worth of goods you'll be presented with one of our handsome Rocking Chairs.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

FROM ALL AROUND THE CITY.

Current Local Events of the Day Briefly Told.

Sits of Facts and Gossip Gathered on the Streets by Times Reporters—Points Political, Social and General Happening Yesterday.

Bicycle Collision.

G. W. Musser and a gentleman named Butler collided yesterday while practicing on the bicycle. Mr. Musser was painfully bruised up.

Members Reception.

There will be a reception held tonight at the rooms of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. building, in the West End, for the benefit of the members and their lady friends.

St. James' Festival Ended.

The festival held by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. James' Church closed last night. They were very successful and the ladies realized a sufficient sum to almost pay the indebtedness of the church.

Pay Your Dog Tax.

All parties owing dogs on which the tax has not been paid for this year would do well to look after the matter, as the city officials will begin a general raid at once on untaxed canines.

Feast of Corpus Christi.

The feast of Corpus Christi was celebrated at St. Andrew's Church yesterday morning at 8 o'clock by Rev. Father Lynch. The feast was followed by the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

En Route to Europe.

Messrs. Thomas Downs, V. Quasie, wife and children, and Miss Mary Quasie, of Elkhorn, W. Va., stopped over in the city yesterday. With the exception of Mr. Downs, they were going to their old home in Europe.

Saint Sent On.

The only case that occupied the attention of the police justice yesterday morning was that of Saint Shafer. He was arraigned for larceny and sent on to the grand jury. He has been convicted of this offense a number of times, and will be sent to the penitentiary if found guilty.

Lee Street Church Festival.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Lee Street M. E. Church held an ice cream and strawberry festival in the vacant store room next to Watt, Retter & Clay last night. Their enterprise was well attended and will be continued to night. All are cordially invited to attend.

A Free Gift Offering.

The Roxana Society of the Calvary Baptist Church held their annual "free gift" offering last night, the occasion being the anniversary of the society. Recitations, vocal and instrumental music were the order of the evening which passed off pleasantly. Quite a large crowd was present.

Returned From the West.

Prof. C. E. Eckert, of the National Business College, has returned from a fifteen days' trip through the West, during which time he visited eight business colleges, studying the different methods in vogue. He found that the Roanoke Business College was well up with the West of similar institutions visited by him.

Passed Through the City.

H. M. Turner, United States immigration inspector, passed through the city yesterday en route to his home at Shepherdstown, W. Va., from the scene of the great coal strike on the Elkhor. Mr. Turner was there investigating the treatment of foreigners by the operators. He reported everything as being quiet.

Ananias is Here.

The alarmist is evidently making a special effort in his line. The wild and false reports about smallpox are calculated to do the city great injury. The Times reporter visited several places yesterday reported to be infested with smallpox and found in every instance the report to be groundless. Ananias has evidently reached town.

Special Sermon to Soldiers.

Rev. R. C. Anderson, Jr., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, will deliver a special sermon to the Roanoke Light Infantry, of which body he is chaplain, Sunday morning at the Second Presbyterian Church. The members of the body are requested to meet at 10:30 o'clock sharp in fatigue caps, blouse, white pants, gloves and belts.

Funeral of John M. Kabler.

The Odd Fellows of this city attended the funeral of the late John M. Kabler at the family residence, 704 Sixth avenue northwest, in a body yesterday. Mr. Kabler was a charter member of Mountain Dale Lodge, and was an employee of the Roanoke Machine Works. The remains were taken to the Union depot by them and sent to Gladys, Campbell county, for interment.

The Tennis Tournament.

The Bedford City lawn tennis club have issued a circular to the tennis players of Virginia announcing the second tennis tournament for the championship, to be held at Bedford July 4 and 5, and perhaps other additional days. It is hoped that every club in the State will be present. Special hotel and railroad rates have been secured for parties wishing to attend. Three prizes in doubles and four prizes in singles have been offered.

The Loyal Legion Entertainment.

The entertainment given last night by the Hamner Loyal Temperance Legion at the Old Opera House was well attended and passed off very pleasantly. The programme, which consisted of some very pretty charades, songs, readings and recitations, was well arranged and admirably rendered. The opening chorus and one or two of the solos deserve special mention. The exercises were opened with prayer and an excellent address by Rev. S. L. Rice, pastor of the United Brethren Church. The whole entertainment reflected much credit on those who managed the affair as well as on the children themselves.

Enterprise Pays.

J. F. Wingfield, the hustling real estate agent, has just sold a store on Kimball avenue for the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association; a nice dwelling on Fifth avenue northeast to Mrs. Kavanaugh, and a farm of 303 acres, 4½ miles from town, to Mr. Keister, of Montgomery county. The above sales were all made during the past few days, and Mr. Wingfield states the sales resulted from advertising these bargains in THE TIMES.

Picnic at Washington Heights.

The gentlemen having in charge the picnic to be given under the auspices of St. Andrew's Sunday-school to-morrow, Saturday, June 15, have made an admirable selection in securing Washington Heights. The large and spacious dancing pavilion 50x150 feet is securely roofed and there is a beautiful grove in close proximity. There will be refreshments, swings and other amusements in abundance. A well of nice fresh water is convenient to the pavilion and those wishing to spend a pleasant day in the country should take advantage of this occasion. The city orchestra will accompany the picnickers and dancing will be one of the features.

NAPOLEON 'AFTER ARCOLE.

It Was Then That His Imperious Spirit Began to Develop.

The two months between the middle of November, 1795, and the middle of January, 1797, display a marked change in Bonaparte's character and conduct. After Arcole he was a man very different from the novice he had been before Montenotte. Twice his fortunes had hung by a single hair, having been rescued by the desperate bravery of Rampon and his soldiers at Monte Legino and again by Augereau's daring at Lonato. Twice he had barely escaped being made a prisoner—once at Valleggio, once at Lonato. Twice his life had been spared in the heat of battle as if by a miracle, once at Lodi, once again at Arcole.

These facts had apparently left a deep impression on his mind, for they were turned to the best account in making good a new step in social advancement. So far he had been an adventurous as the greatest dandy among the subalterns, staking his life in every new venture. Hereafter he seemed to appreciate his own value, and to calculate not only the exposures of his person, but the intimacy of his intercourse, with nice adaptation to some great result. Gradually and informally a kind of bodyguard was organized, which, as the idea grew familiar, was skillfully developed into a picked corps, the best officers and finest soldiers being made to feel honored in its membership. The constant attendance of such men necessarily secluded the general in chief from those colleagues who had hitherto been familiar comrades.

Something in the nature of formal etiquette once established, it was easy to extend its rules and confirm them. The generals were thus further and further separated from their superior, and before the new year they had insensibly adopted habits of address which displayed a high outward respect, and virtually terminated all comradeship with one who had so recently been merely the first among equals. Bonaparte's innate tendency to command was under such circumstances hardened into a habit of imperious dictation. In view of what had been accomplished, it would have been impossible, even for the most stubborn democrat, to check the progress. Not one of Bonaparte's principles had failed to secure triumphant vindication.—Professor W. M. Sloane in Century.

His Publisher.

It is said that at an author's dinner, held in London some months ago, Bill Nye made a short speech which was much relished by every one present, including the publishers, at whom it was indirectly aimed.

Just a year ago, he said, I was walking on the principal street of Indianapolis, when I met a man whose appearance showed that he was reduced to the very depths of poverty. His clothes were ragged, his face unshaven, his hair long and matted and his feet unshod. As I passed him a look of recognition came into his eyes. "Nye, old fellow," said he, "don't you know me? Don't you know Abel P. Jones, who was your classmate at college?"

"What, Jones! Is it really you? Well, well, what can I do for you?" "I'm starving! Lend me half a dollar."

I felt in my pockets. They were empty. But a bright thought flashed through my head. "Abel," said I, "I can't lend you the half dollar. I haven't got it. But look here! I'll tell you what I will do: I'll let you publish my next book."

Gentlemen, that was just a year ago, and this month Abel P. Jones sent me an invitation to go to Europe with him on his steam yacht.—Bookman.

A Compulsory Conclusion.
He was a filbert, and the girl knew it. He had been saying tender things and looking unutterable ones for weeks. And every time he opened his mouth he put his foot in it.

"At last he came to the point. 'I have lost my heart,' he said to her in that way which every woman knows so well the interpretation of. She looked at him searchingly. 'Science,' she responded, 'says that nothing is lost.'"

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

All the Smallpox Patients Properly Cared For—No New Cases Reported.

In stating yesterday that there had been a case of smallpox near the brewery THE TIMES reporter made a mistake. The only case that has made its appearance in the southeastern part of the city was at Carr's woods, half a mile east of the brewery, and about half way between this city and Vinton. As to the prevalence of smallpox here, there is not the least occasion for alarm. All of the five cases reported were varioloid except two, and the arrangements of the board of health and city authorities for confining and stamping out the disease are such that it is believed no danger of a further spread of the disease exists.

There is not now a case of smallpox within the city limits, all of those afflicted with the disease having been taken to the building prepared especially for them on the alms-house farm.

The board of health has issued instructions advising all who have not been vaccinated within the last six or seven years to have it done at the earliest convenient moment as a precautionary measure. All children between three and twelve months should be vaccinated, and when exposed to contagion it is best to vaccinate children though only a few days old. Vaccination should be done only by a competent person.

League of Press Clubs.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—The delegates to the convention of international league of press clubs having finished their work, placed themselves to-day in the hands of their hosts, the Pen and Pencil Club, and the merchants of Philadelphia and devoted the day to personal enjoyment. The first event on the program was a trip down the Delaware on the steamer Republic, as the guests of the Trades League.

A Vindication of Justice.

BELVIDERE, N. J., June 13.—George Andrews, the colored wife murderer, was hanged upon the gallows in the Warren county jail yard this morning. Just before the drop was sprung Rev. Mr. Fassett stated that Andrews acknowledged that his execution was a vindication of justice.

Miss Wanamaker Married.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—Miss Wanamaker, daughter of Hon. John Wanamaker, Postmaster General in the Cabinet of Mr. Harrison, was married this afternoon to Mr. Barclay H. Warburton, of this city. The wedding was a very quiet affair.

Wages Increased at Utica.

UTICA, N. Y., June 13.—At the Chadwick Cotton Mills wages will be increased 10 per cent. next Monday. Weavers on broad looms in Utica Steam Cotton Mills will have an increase in wages to four cents a cut.

TURNING GRAY AND THREATENED WITH BALDNESS The Danger is Averted by Using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

Hats Trimmings Free of Charge. PALAIS ROYAL! Hats Trimmings Free of Charge.

101 SALEM AVENUE.

Quality is First and Foremost!

Example is better than precept. It is no use to preach unless you are going to practice. It is idleness to talk mercantile reforms—and business progression—and still keep on in the same path—impelled by the same methods.
Ours is designed to be a modern store, with modern stock and modern ideas. Our ambition is to build still higher a reputation for best qualities and lowest prices—not so cheap that we cannot guarantee the value. We are patrons of the best—promoters of the best—looked to for the best—and never disappointing in the measure of your expectancy.
